- Open Forum: 2:16-2:40
 - John: Our group is dealing with a disruptive individual. A lot of people have stopped coming to our group out of fear and it concerns me. This person doesn't always fall into this disruptive behaviour, but when he does it concerns me because we have a lot of newcomers. This individual is not going to change and we are just letting him win and have control over what happens.
 - Stephanie: Have you thought about making it a speaker meeting?
 - John: No we do have 3 meetings a week but did begin reading a disclaimer before the meeting now to make sure he is aware that what he is doing is not allowed.
 - Sid: We have had issues with people crosstalking and using their phones and it is distracting. I would like to be able to do something about it but do not know if there is a policy or any suggestions towards this.
 - Katey: There is an IP that covers this topic, and kind of gives some suggestions and guidelines on how to handle this. I have heard of homegroups banning members who are disruptive and violent.
 - Jodi: He has been banned from several meetings in this area.

- Jan: As well as the 24 hour room.
- Katey: So there is a precedence for this situation and a process that other groups have taken.
- Jan: Our primary purpose is to carry the message and foster an atmosphere of recovery. If this individual is making it impossible to create an atmosphere of recovery then we have a duty as members to make a necessary change.
- Becky: The chair can step in to maintain order and set boundaries, even if its in the middle of the person sharing, or if they see people on their cell phones or crosstalking.
- John: That has been done and tried.
- Steve: In Florida, when someone was continually disruptive in a meeting and made it unable for us to conduct a meeting and maintain an atmosphere of recovery. Like in Narcotics Anonymous we dont tell people theyre not welcome, but you could go to the meeting place and see if they would ban the individual from the property. Also, as a homegroup you are autonomous, except in matters effecting NA as a whole, so you have the right to do what you guys deem best for your homegroup.
- John: Thanks guys, our next force of action is to ban him. My concern is that it is frightening people and alot of these newcomers are being scared away from attending a meeting that could save their life.
- Chris: The 4th tradition allows you to handle this as a group, so outside of suggestions I am not sure if there is anything that the area can do. If there is something that this area can do to help your homegroup then let us know.
- Mindi: I have been apart of three meetings where this individual had the outburst. It is no joke. One night he followed me halfway home. Its beyond being scared in a meeting, it is causing serious problems.
- Chris: Individually as recovering addicts, we have the law on our side. If for any reason you feel threatened by this individual you have a right to reach out and handle this legally. But as an area, there is not alot that we can do, it is really up to the individual homegroups. If there is something that you can think of that this area can do, please bring it back and we will do everything we can to help. I hope you have heard some suggestions, but please let us know and keep us up to date and this situation moves forward.
- Austin: Basically as an area we serve the groups, so we as an area cannot ban him from all area meetings, because each individual meeting is automous and we are only here to support those meetings, not control them. The area is controlled by the groups, not the groups by the area.
- Brian: Just ban him and eliminate the issue. Just ban him.

- Becky: When are elections? and when do the new officials take over?
- Chris: Nominations go up in may, they are voted on in june and they take over starting during the new business portion of the june ASC meeting.
- John: I went to the “All the Way Up” meeting, and what happens is that it is ran by individuals who are participating in the drug court program. They got seriously off topic and it didnt follow our format or traditions. What happened is the person in charge of the facility closed the meeting, so it no longer exists.
- Erin: AM NA is starting an additional meeting at 9am on saturdays in the same location of the wednesday 7am meeting.
- Jan: Thinking of last months discussion of moving area for GRCNA, the way I was taught is that if you make a service committment, you show up. The only reason area is moved is for a federal holiday. The intent is not because people would not be able to make it. It was made so that if the facility was closed, as most are on federal holidays, we could meet the next weekend to still have our area business meeting. The only reason we should be moving an area meeting is if the facility is closed. Arent we supposed to all honor our committments as recovering addicts? Are we co-signing this by changing dates to help more people make it?
- Jodi: You’re kind of preaching to the choir here Jan. We are all here. The area voted to not move area, so I do not think this area is co-signing that type of behavior.
- Jan: Well, are we sure that Ridgeview is closed the Sunday of Labor Day weekend, or the Sunday before memorial day? If they are open, then we are moving the ASC meeting to a different weekend for no reason.
- Chris: Jan this is more of a policy issue. I would suggest to you that if your homegroup would like to, you could bring this up as a motion to change policy.
- Jan: Who should reach out to Ridgeview to find out?
- Jodi: Is the intent you described stated in policy?
- Jan: No, but it was the original intent.
- Chris: It would be a good idea for you to reach out to Ridgeview for there schedule and see if they are open, then bring that information back to your homegroup.
- Katey: Also, we take attendance. If someone is running for a position in the future, this is something we could ask them and consider before voting on them.
- Robert: I have been here 8 years and it has been the same. We can try to pass it if we want to, but then we will have to see who shows up to conduct business.
- John: Easy Does It has a new meeting starting next Tuesday at 7pm, it will be a Basic Text study meeting.

- Chris: Anyone else? That concludes the open forum portion of this area business meeting

 - Handing out metro service panel schedules.
 - Phone line option:
 - Region could supply an automated phonenumber/helpline service that has upgraded services at no cost to the Marietta Area. We will monitor how it goes with participating areas over the next few months. It would save about $240 for this month alone.
 - Metro PR Notes:
 - Why metro and not area? This was asked at our ASC meeting last month. Metro has a close geographic overlap that region has difficulty maintaining over the 3 month break.
 - Topics Discussed: Recruitment, Goals of metro panel, how to improve communication between participants, opportunities to bring people into service, how to make service “attractive”, how to share the service experience with newer members.
 - Training goals - consistency, making sure people are knowledgeable in what is required to fulfill service commitment.

- How to collect inventory of services at areas, possibly use the inventory survey from NA.org
- How to best create training modules in order to have a more unified message and share information.
- Collaboration of areas
 - Identifying needs, communication options, sharing service areas, using models/contacting 2 existing metro panels (Kansas City and Australia)
- Creating Private FB page. Posting electronic versions of signup sheets for H&I and PR on area website.

Thanks - Stephanie
